Service Definitions:

Targeted Case Management

Case Management is available to anyone who is eligible for I/DD services in Butler County. In some counties, Title XIX Medicaid is required in order to receive Case Management. A case manager will help identify, select, obtain, coordinate, and use paid services and natural supports to assist an individual. Case management services can be utilized before funding is accessed and while on the waiting list

In Home Supports

This service is offered within the home or community and assures the health, welfare and daily living needs are being met for a person with a disability. A worker typically provides one-to-one assistance with self-care, household activities, health maintenance, activities of daily living, overnight respite or sleep support, accessing medical care, socialization and may accompany or provide transportation for any of these tasks. In home support can be a Self-Directed or an Agency-Directed service.

Agency-Directed In Home Supports (Supportive Home Care):

Supportive Home Care Services are provided through an Agency. An Agency is responsible for providing staff to assist with individualized In Home Supports to a person who lives with natural supports but are unable to provide the care themselves.

Self-Directed In Home Supports (Personal Care Services):

The person/natural supports are allowed to self-direct their services for Residential, Day or In Home Supports by identifying their own care provider to provide the individualized support. The person/natural supports will be responsible for assuring the care provider has completed required paperwork through a Financial Management Service Provider, in order to be reimbursed by Medicaid for the service.

Specialized Medical Care

This service provides long-term nursing support for medically fragile and technology dependent individuals. The required level of care must provide medical support for a beneficiary needing ongoing, daily care that would otherwise require the beneficiary to be in a hospital. The intensive medical needs of the beneficiary must be met to assure the person can live outside of a hospital or ICF/ID. The provider of Specialized Medical Care must be a Registered Nurse (RN), a Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN) or another entity designated by the Kansas Department for Aging and Disability Services.

Day Supports

Inclusion, skill building and meaningful work are important elements in most of our lives, and it's especially important for an individual with ID/DD. Day supports consist of regularly occurring activities that provide a sense of participation, accomplishment, personal reward or contribution. These activities also are designed to maintain or increase adaptive capabilities, independence, productivity and integration into the greater community

Residential Supports

Individuals with I/DD who maintain a higher level of independence can benefit from a residential support worker who provides assistance, acquisition, retention and/or improvement in skills to assure that the health, welfare and support needs of the individual are met in a non-family, residential setting.

Supported Employment

Employment provides a sense of contribution and pride, as well as a path toward greater independence. This service provides support in the way of "job coaches" and other assistance for individuals with I/DD who are attempting to acquire or maintain competitive employment within the community.

Wellness Monitoring

To ensure an individual is properly using medical health services prescribed by a physician, a wellness evaluation is performed by a registered nurse.

Assistive Services

These are supports or items that meet an individual's assessed need by improving and/or promoting the person's health, independence, productivity or integration into the community. The supports/items must be related directly to the person's disability and Person Centered Plans measurable outcomes.

Medical Alert Rental

This service provides support to a consumer who has a medical need that could become critical at any time. The medical alert device is worn by the consumer, which by pushing a button, automatically dials the telephone of a predetermined responder.
